

Ray Jeffers

I'm Ray Jeffers, and I've been passionate about this sport since 1999. Over the years, I've had the privilege of competing at local, regional, and national levels. I've also held a national-level helper certification for many years, with notable selections including the 2003 German Shepherd Dog Championship (back half), the 2004 AWDF (back half), and the 2006 AWDF (front half). Currently, I serve as the Training Director of Raleigh Schutzhund Association, a club I've proudly been a part of for over 25 years. I'm now focused on training my young dog, Lea-O, and continuing the journey in this incredible sport.

Professionally, I serve as a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives and manage my family's century farm.
